

BUILDERS, DEVELOPERS AND ARCHITECTS

Cast bronze plaques, letters, numbers and logos add prestige to a building or development. For the price of a very small percentage of the cost of a building, prestigious bronze elements can be added.

The combination of cast and finished or polished surfaces create an aura that cannot be achieved with plastic or other cheap materials.

A bronze plaque mounted in the foyer area is an historical record of the building owners and builders as well as the dignitary who performed the opening ceremony

Phoenix can provide a service to design and manufacture bronze lettering in almost any font that will fit within the space available. Templates to assist erection are supplied.

The all important impression people gain from their first sight of a building or development can have an important effect on the success of future sales.

Cast bronze letters & plaques have a long tradition in architectural applications. Modern pattern making & casting technology enable production of three-dimensional objects with custom textures, polished or finished surfaces. Combinations of light, shadow & traditional bronze aura can be used to great effect in modern buildings, along with the range of finishes available including stoved enamel, chemical patina & plating with other metals. Phoenix plaques & letters are available in several bronze alloys, brass, aluminium & iron.
