

COMMEMORATIVE PLAQUES

Used since ancient times to commemorate people and events. Bronze survives today against the onslaught of plastic and other modern materials to be a premium product, chosen when durability, beauty and legibility are specified.

Cast-on, vandal resistant fittings allow installation in the most exposed sites. Having no visible fixings deters attempts at removal. Graffiti can simply be wiped off without affecting the plaque.

The ability of bronze to form a fine skin of patina when it interacts with the environment means that it is virtually impervious to weather and pollution. It will last for many generations.

Bronze plaques are available in virtually any size. Phoenix can manufacture a tiny plaque with lettering the size of newsprint or an imposing statement with an inscription visible from a great distance.

Phoenix plaques can also be supplied in aluminium, brass or iron. They can be plated in other materials for special effects.
