

DETACHABLE PLATES FOR DUAL MEMORIAL PLAQUES

Married couples or partners often wish to be memorialised on a single plaque. Since in most cases they pass away at different times, Phoenix provides for this situation with Dual Plaques containing Detachable Plates.

Base Plaque with first interment

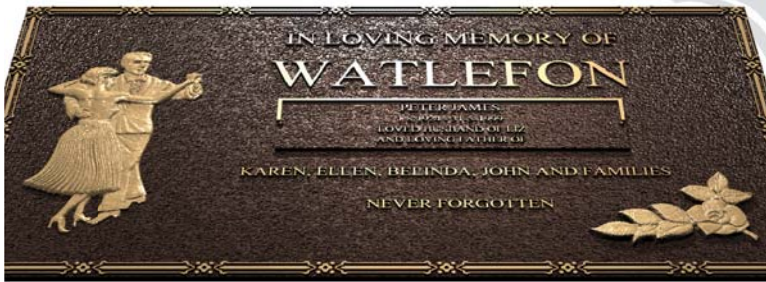

After second interment

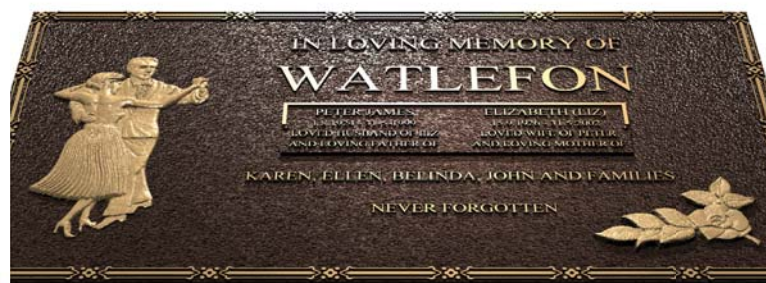

DUAL PLATE SYSTEM

At the interment of the first person, a base plaque is ordered with an inscription that includes the common elements of the couple such as the family name and names of descendants. At the same time details of the individual are included on the "first detachable plate". This is supplied with and fitted to the base plaque. In most cases the system allows this first detachable plate to be centered on the base plaque with colour matching screws.

When the second interment occurs, the second plate is ordered. At the cemetery, the first plate is repositioned and the second plate installed.

Base Plaque with first interment

After second interment

SINGLE PLATE SYSTEM

A variation of this system involves a single longer detachable plate. The first interment details are centered on this plate. At the time of the second interment, a single new plate is ordered which contains details of both persons.

An advantage of this scheme is that if there is an extended interval between the first and second interment there will be no difference in appearance between the two plates due to one fading over time. The dual plate system will show a difference in appearance between the two plates as the first one will fade over time.

